L. L. ALLEN

Lewis Lucius Lavernia Allen was born in Jackson, Cape Girardeau county, Missouri, August 31st, 1825. At the age of four years the family moved to St. Louis county where he had the advantages of a common school education in an old log school house in Baldwin, finishing his education afterward in a business college in St. Louis, but was ever a great reader of books including standard English and current literature.

On January 9th, 1850 he united in marriage with Miss Corinna J. P. Potter to which four children were born: John B., who died at the age of 16 years; Charles E., of Harrisonville, Mo.; Lewis L., of Peirce City, and Isabella of Boulder, Colo.

In 1850 Mr. and Mrs. Allen united with the First Congregational Church in St. Louis from which place they moved to Peirce City in 1870 where Mr. Allen engaged in the banking business from which he retired in 1910 but was always a part of all business and educational activities and no good thing failed of his support.

Being always interested in the religious welfare of the community where he lived Mr. Allen, soon after coming to Peirce City, organized a Union Sunday school, holding its sessions over a store until the building of the Presbyterian church.

SIMPSON MAKES ANOTHER WORLD'S RECORD

Bob Simpson, the world's greatest hurdler, who is a senior in the University of Missouri, added another world's record to his already growing string when he ran the 50-yard high hurdles in 6 3-5 seconds at the recent indoor meet held by the Kansas City Athletic Club in that city. He also made what is believed to be a world's record in the 50-yard hurdles by running them in 5 4-5 seconds. Simpson is the holder of the outdoor world's high hurdle record and has tied the world's record in the 220-yard low hurdles. In addition to these, he is the holder of the Missouri Valley record in the broad jump.

"BACK-LOT" GARDENS HAVE EDUCATIONAL POSSIBILITIES

H. F. Major Advocates Their Use in Nature Study Courses.

The "back-lot" garden as a means of education in the grammar schools as well as being a means of reducing the high cost of food and increasing its supply is advocated by Horace F. Major, assistant professor of landscape gardening and superintendent of grounds of the University of Missouri.

"Gardening should be embodied in nature study in schools," Mr. Major says. "It is a sure way to develop powers of observation, regularity of habit, responsibility, and provides exercise and profitable recreation. The plan of gardens on vacant lots for school children also has its difficulties."

Here are some of the difficulties Mr. Major enumerates:

A strong organization of influential citizens must back the movement with enthusiasm and hard work and guarantee the initial cost of seeds, tools and other accessories.

The obtaining of a sufficient number of vacant lots accessible to the children is difficult. These lots are few and a promise of their use for any definite length of time is difficult to obtain.

A well trained supervisor of gardens is absolutely necessary. He must keep the children interested according to their individual characteristics. A 14-year-old boy will not be willing to work a 4-foot plot with the same enthusiasm exhibited by his 6-year-old brother. A child whose natural inclination is toward mechanics cannot be stuck on a lot and told to raise potatoes. He must be coaxed and guided in the work so that he will take pleasure in the work.

A lack of convenient water connections also makes the gardening difficult. Columbia through its Commercial Club is taking up the vacant lot garden movement.

PENITENTIARY STABLES DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Jefferson City, March 20.—The penitentiary stables were burned to the ground between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. The loss to the state will be about $20,000. It is not definitely known how the fire originated. There were no convicts in the building, which was not within the prison inclosure, but 70 feet from the west wall and near Water street.

Two of the prison mules were burned to death, but all other live stock was rescued. The building was filled with hay and grain.

Warden Painter believes tramps got into the building and set it on fire accidentally. He says he is certain that convicts are not responsible.

The city and the prison fire departments kept the blaze from spreading to prison warehouses in which are large stores of raw material.

EMPEROR OF RUSSIA ABDICATES THRONE

Grand Duke Alexandrovitch, His Younger Brother, Named as Regent, Revolution is Successful.

Petrograd, March 15.—The emperor of Russia has abdicated and Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, his younger brother, has been named as regent. The Russian ministry, charged with corruption and incompetence, has been swept out of office. Two ministers, Alexander Protopopoff, head of the interior department and Boris Strumer, former premier, are reported to have been killed, and the other ministers, as well as the president of the imperial council, are under arrest.

A new national cabinet is announced, with Prince Lvoff as president of the council and premier, and the other offices held by the men who are close to the Russian people.

For several days Petrograd has been the scene of one of the most remarkable risings in history. Beginning with minor food riots and labor strikes, the cry for food reached the hearts of the soldiers, and one by one the regiments rebelled, until those troops that had for a time stood loyal to the government took up their arms and marched into the ranks of the revolutionists.

The president of the duma, Michael V. Rodzianko, was the leading figure among the deputies who unanimously decided to oppose the imperial order for a dissolution of the house. They continued their sessions and M. Rodzianko informed the emperor then at the front, that the hour had struck when the will of the people must prevail. Even the imperial council realized the gravity of the situation and added its appeal to that of the duma that the emperor should take steps to give the people a policy and government in accordance with their desires and in order that there should be no interference with carrying on the war to a victorious ending.

The emperor hastened back from the front only to find that the revolution had been successful and that a new government was in control. The empress, who, it is alleged, has been influential in the councils opposed to the wishes of the people, is reported to have fled or to be in hiding.

Although considerable fighting took place, it is not believed that the casualties are large.

FRUIT OUTLOOK FAIR

Farm Adviser Predicts Bumper Apple Crop But Negligible Peach Yield.

According to the report of E. A. Cocke, of the Greene county farm bureau, there is a pretty good outlook for fruit if the late spring frosts do not injure it.

Mr. Cocke says the apple buds are abundant in spite of the drouth last summer and are in excellent condition.

The peaches were injured last November by low temperature and many owners of orchards expect but about a fourth of a crop, however no correct estimate can be made as yet.

Strawberries were injured in the drouth in the summer of 1916, and will probably only reach 60 per cent of normal yield. The crops will
